

Team Up with Tingle!

If you have a Game Boy® Advance and a Nintendo GameCube Game Boy Advance cable (both sold separately), The Legend of Zelda: The Wind Waker offers two-player cooperative play. No software is needed in the Game Boy Advance—just team up and give Tingle a call!

how to get in touch with tingle:

1. After you get the Tingle Tuner in the Windfall Island jail, insert the Nintendo GameCube Game Boy Advance cable into Controller Socket 2, 3, or 4.
2. Connect the cable to your Game Boy Advance (see picture below) and turn the Game Boy Advance ON.

- Insert the cable into any Controller Socket other than Controller Socket 1.
- Do not insert a cable or connect a Game Boy Advance if you are not going to use them.

For more information about linking, see page 27 of The Legend of Zelda: The Wind Waker instruction booklet.

Tingle's Talents

need a hint?

Tingle has tons of information at his disposal. He can tell you about enemies, give advice on how to solve puzzles, and offer information about ocean conditions and maps. If you ever find yourself stuck, you can be sure that Tingle will be able to help out!

Bombs away!

For a low, low price, Tingle can drop bombs on unwary enemies or impediments that Link can't get past. Of course, Tingle can also drop bombs on Link, but that wouldn't be very nice, now, would it?

uncover secrets!

There are many items that no one but Tingle can find, so having a friend play cooperatively with you is key. Be sure to search every inch of dungeons for Rupees, hidden treasure chests, and more!

check the map

Tingle can really come through when things are at their bleakest. He offers items that recover health and magic and can even shield Link from attacks for a limited time. Of course, his protection comes at a price, but survival is more important than Rupees!

float on the wind

One of Tingle's coolest items is the Tingle Balloon. Once you equip this handy flotation device, Link can hover for a short period in thin air! If you see a ledge that's just out of reach, break out the balloon.

don't forget to call!

Tingle can do many other things, but it's up to you and a friend to discover them all. Plug in your Game Boy Advance, fire up the Tingle Tuner, and head out to sea!
