STATE OF EARTH

As most of you have either never been to Earth at all, or not seen her in many years, prepare for a shock. This is not the peaceful, green planet you may have heard about in childhood stories. The Invid have laid waste to our home world, leaving only pockets of civilization dotting the landscape. The survivors live in fear, not only of the alien invaders, but of their own kind.

Many gangs have sprung up throughout the land, preying on the fear of the general populace, and in many cases, allied with the Invid. Even if you see no aliens in your vicinity, never let your guard down. You may end up being attacked by your own kind.

INVID COMMANDER

The Invid Commander would seem to be the equivalent of an Invid General, with complete control over any other Invid forces in the area. These units are notoriously tough, to the point that none of our current, standard issue arms even seem to scratch them. Robotech R&D is working feverishly to develop a weapon capable of destroying an Invid Commander.

HUMANOIDS

Scattered, unconfirmed reports indicate a new Invid threat in the form of aliens disguised as humans. These facsimiles are supposedly very authentic looking, and thus hard to spot. One objective of your mission will be to seek out information and confirm whether these new Invid spies actually exist.

SHOCK TROOPER

The Shock Trooper is exactly like the regular Trooper, but with two cannons mounted on its shoulders. Attempting to blow off the cannons is generally the best plan of attack when taking on a squad of Shock Troopers. While this will not neutralize them, it will take away their long-range attack ability.

"PINCER" ENFORCER

At first the "Pincer" may seem like a larger version of the Shock Trooper, but these units tend to display more intelligence. They will generally hang back, firing their laser cannons, and sometimes breaking away from the battle in order to call in reinforcements. Be sure to focus on them before they have a chance to escape the battle.

MORTAR SCOUT

These Scouts will very rarely come near a battle, but rather find a far-off perch from which to fire their powerful mortar projectiles, blanketing the battlefield with explosions. Engage them using either an H-95 Sniper Rifle or RL-8 Rocket Launcher for the best results.

TROOPER

The Trooper is the grunt of the Invid forces, using speed and brute strength to crush its enemies. While the Trooper is capable of flying, it generally does so only to reach the battlefield, and then fights on foot. If it drops its head and raises its arms up over its eye, the Trooper is about to charge. Get out of the way, fast.

ALL SOLDIERS AND OFFICERS ASSIGNED TO THE SECOND RECLAMATION ASSAULT ARE REQUIRED TO READ THE FOLLOWING BRIEFING.

ROBOTECH RECLAMATION FORCE HANDBOOK 21ST MARS DIVISION

HEAVY ENFORCER

Very similar to the regular Enforcer, the Heavy Enforcer sports more armor and two extra, shoulder-mounted cannons. The weapons on the Heavy Enforcer seem to be stronger.

ARMORED SCOUT

Primarily used as a backup unit, the Armored Scout is an airborne unit that will hover above while the battle rages, raining fire down upon its enemies. These units are so agile that they can change direction almost instantly even while flying, making them hard to destroy, especially in large numbers.

A SHORT HISTORY

07.1999

A large alien spacecraft crash lands on Earth, leading to a cease-fire in the global war raging at the time. The newly formed Earth Government decides to rebuild the downed spacecraft using the fantastic new technology found within, dubbed Robotech.

02.2009

On the day of the rebuilt spacecraft's maiden voyage, Earth comes under attack by unknown alien invaders. The Captain orders a fold maneuver that warps both the ship and the island below it to the far side of Pluto.

03.2010

After a year-long journey, the battleship returns to Earth, only to be denied permission to land and unload the civilian refugees on board. The pursuing alien force settles into Earth's orbit.

INVID INTELLIGENCE REPORT

Research from their now-barren home world indicates that the Invid were once a peaceful race, content to live in isolation, cut off from all other sentient beings. Not until an alien race betrayed their trust did their warlike nature blossom. Now they travel the Universe searching for that which was stolen from them—the Invid Flower of Life.

As the Flower of Life is the only known source of Protoculture, the Invid defend it zealously. We believe it not only powers their mecha, but is actually required for their continued existence.

Because of this, Invid forces are extremely dangerous. The only common weakness REF Intelligence has been able to discern is the singular eye on each Invid soldier. Aim for it and you may deal a lethal blow to your adversary.

What follows is all the intelligence we've gathered on the Invid.

ENFORCER

These humanoid aliens seem bred to go where their much larger counterparts cannot fit. They are quick and have deadly accuracy. The apparent frailty of their humanoid bodies is offset by the large shield attached to their left arms. Try blowing the shield off to expose the head.

05.2011

The alien invaders decide the Earth is a major threat to their way of life, and destroy 95% of its surface with a massive laser bombardment. The crew of the Earth spacecraft, with the help of some alien rebels, defeat the alien armada and set to the task of re-building the planet.

01.2014

Despite both races living in relative peace, a renegade alien faction launches a final assault on the Earth spacecraft and destroys it, ending the first Robotech war.

12.2022

The Robotech Expeditionary Force launches on a mission to find the home planet of the alien invaders.

04.2029

The overlords of the previous alien invasion force, having sensed the presence of the Invid Flower of Life on Earth, attack the planet. The second Robotech war begins.

03.2030

Earth's defenders discover the Flower of Life at the ruins of the old Earth battleship.

05.2030

Understanding that the Flower of Life is the precursor to an Invid invasion of Earth; the invading alien force attempts a final, desperate attack on the planet. While the Earth's defense forces drive the aliens back, the Flowers of Life bloom, drawing a new invasion force toward the planet. The second Robotech war ends.

01.2031

The Invid invade Earth in search of Protoculture. The defense forces, still reeling from the previous conflict, quickly succumb to the new threat. The Invid occupy the planet.

09.2038

The returning Robotech Expeditionary Force launches its first assault on Reflex Point, the central hive of the Invid collective. The attack is a disaster, resulting in heavy losses for the REF. The third Robotech war has begun.

11.2042

The planned launch date for the second Robotech Reclamation Force.

WHAT IS PROTOCOLCULTURE?

Protoculture is derived from the Invid Flower of Life. An ancient alien civilization discovered that a properly germinated seed under constant pressure would produce untold amounts of bio-energy – a single seed would produce more than enough energy to power a major Earth city for decades. More than just a simple fuel, Protoculture also creates a link between humans and mecha that allows a previously unheard of level of control. Since the end of the first Robotech war (2014), it has been discovered that Earth is now one of the largest known sources of Protoculture. It is the main reason the Invid have occupied the planet.

While it is unclear exactly why the Invid require Protoculture, we do know that they stockpile and guard it fiercely. REF Intelligence reports that the Invid may use Protoculture as an evolutionary catalyst as well as an energy source.

Protoculture in small amounts is safe for humans. Indeed, it powers most REF mecha and weapons. However, contact with raw Protoculture can be fatal to our race.

COBALT GRENADE

Pull the pin, throw, and wait for the boom. If you hold the Grenade button for a few seconds before releasing, you will "cook" the grenade. But hold the button for too long and the grenade will blow up in your hand.

GR-109 MISSILES

In Rider mode, the GR-109 missile system will automatically seek and lock on to any visible target. These fast, homing missiles are most effective when fired in volleys.

CLASSIFIED WEAPON INFORMATION

H-109P DESTABILIZER

The plans for this prototype weapon were stolen before the first Earth Reclamation Mission four years ago. It is a weapon capable of breaching Invid shield technology.

We are declassifying this information because Intelligence has reason to believe there is a working prototype of the H-109P in Earth's North American quadrant. Immediately report any leads or information you may find that could lead to getting back the plans or prototype.

WOLVERINE MACHINE GUN

The Wolverine has the highest firing rate of any weapon in the REF arsenal, and the lowest accuracy rating. If you are fighting in close quarters, this weapon will tear your enemies to shreds. Just be careful that you do not run out of ammunition.

HOLDEN MARK-2 SHOTGUN

The Holden Mark-2 is strictly a short-range weapon, as the power of the projectiles dissipates very rapidly making the gun useless at medium-ranges and long-ranges. Soldiers skilled with this weapon can hit four or five enemies with a single shot.

RL-8 ROCKET LAUNCHER

Remember you need to lead your targets when you use the RL-8. The powerful, low-velocity rockets will deal major damage to anything they hit, including you, so do not use this weapon at close range. Click the zoom button to make long-distance aiming a bit easier.

THE CYCLONE - VERITECH RIDING ARMOR

The new transforming Cyclone Armor will be standard issue for all Recon Scouts, Officers, and Infantry taking part in the Second Reclamation Assault. Cyclone type will be issued based on assignment.

VR-038 "Light Recon Cyclone"

SHIELD RATING: 80

RECHARGE: 2603 MS

MISSILE COMPLEMENT: 25

MISSILE VOLLEY: 4

This light combat Cyclone is standard issue for Recon Scout-class soldiers. Extra shielding has been sacrificed for higher mobility and a shorter recharge time. This armor is tailor-made for long-distance encounters and stealth missions thanks to its night- and thermal-vision modes.

SHIELD RATING: 110RECHARGE: 5752 MSMISSILE COMPLEMENT: 35MISSILE VOLLEY: 6

While the VR-041 is an older-model Cyclone, it is second only to the brand new VR-098 regarding close quarters combat. It has been nicknamed the "Saber" thanks to the retractable, high-frequency vibroblades (CADS-1) on each arm. Night-vision mode makes combat in dark areas no problem.

VR-052 "Standard Cyclone"SHIELD RATING: 100RECHARGE: 4017 MSMISSILE COMPLEMENT: 16MISSILE VOLLEY: 2

Infantry standard issue, this Cyclone is built to get REF troops in and out of areas where a long distance strike is just not an option. Getting up close and personal with the Invid still is not recommended, but the VR-052 will give you a fighting chance. It comes with a night-vision mode.

EP-26 PULSE RIFLE

The slow firing rate and low damage of the EP-26 is offset by its ability to fire a charged, homing shot that will stun anything it hits. Just hold the trigger down for a few seconds before letting go for the homing shot.

EP-48 MORTAR RIFLE

The slow, arching projectile fired from the EP-48 is extremely powerful, and takes an extremely skilled hand to wield effectively. It may take practice, but you will be a one-man army if you can master the EP-48.

BALLISTIC WEAPONSWOLF AUTO PISTOL

This high-damage pistol is good at any range, a fact accentuated by the zoom feature. Until you find a Sniper Scope for your H-95, the Wolf is your best friend for precision, long-distance shots.

The Cyclone Veritech Riding Armor comes with two handheld weapon slots, and keeps a Protoculture reserve to be used as ammunition for energy-based weapons. This does not, however, preclude the use of ballistic weapons. The Cyclone also has a missile stockpile to be used in Rider mode.

GALLANT H-95 PISTOL

The Cyclone armor comes standard with the Gallant H-95 pistol. This single-shot pistol is connected directly to the Cyclone, and thus cannot be dropped in order to pick up a different weapon.

GALLANT H-95 RIFLE

With the Rifle Stock upgrade, your Gallant can be made more powerful. This upgrade also makes the H-95 an automatic weapon, meaning you'll burn through your Protoculture reserves very quickly if you are not careful. (This will replace the H-95 Pistol in your inventory.)

GALLANT H-95 SNIPER RIFLE

The second and final upgrade to the H-95 is the Sniper Scope. This addition adds a zoom feature to the Gallant, as well as a much more powerful projectile while zoomed-in. When zoomed-out, the weapon still behaves like the H-95 Rifle. (This will replace the H-95 Rifle in your inventory.)

ENERGY WEAPONS

SHIELD RATING: 150

RECHARGE: 8098 MS

MISSILE COMPLEMENT: 50

MISSILE VOLLEY: 10

This incredible new machine mixes the heavy ordinance and high armor rating of the VR-041 with the night-vision and thermal-vision modes of the VR-038, making it the most balanced Cyclone to come out of Robotech R&D thus far. Unfortunately, the extra armor makes the addition of the CADS-1 system impossible.

VR-101P "Shadow Dancer"

SHIELD RATING: 70

RECHARGE: 2109 MS

MISSILE COMPLEMENT: 35

MISSILE VOLLEY: 6

The "Shadow Dancer" is still in the prototype phase and issued only to special forces. The fantastic new cloaking system makes it possible to sneak up on almost any adversary and use the CADS-1 to dispatch them quickly. Night-vision and thermal-vision modes make the VR-101P the ultimate black-ops mecha.
